Tax Statements For County Mailed

Personal, Half Of Real Estate Due by July 1

Statements were mailed Thursday to Saline county taxpayers from the office of Maynard Cannon, county collector. The statements show amounts due on property as of April 1, 1956, payable this year.

Real estate taxes may be paid in two installments—the first becoming delinquent July 1, the second September 1. Personal property taxes become delinquent July 1.

Ordinarily the first installment of real estate taxes and all personal property taxes become delinquent June 1, but there was a delay in preparing tax books in the office of the County Clerk, due to the untimely death of Paul Gray, deputy clerk who had charge of abstracting the assessments and calculating the rates.

After the tax books are completed by the County Clerk's office, the statements are prepared and collections are made by the collector's office.

Calculating the tax rate is a most detailed operation, since there are 149 different rates from various taxing bodies in the county to be co-ordinated.

For instance, there is the total county rate, made up of 11 different levies; rates from 13 town-

Simplified Table Of Tax Rates

Here is a simplified table of tax rates for various areas in Saline county as prepared by Maynard Cannon, county collector.

To find your rate, take first the township in which you reside, then the city or village if you reside in town, then find the common school and high school district, and you have your rate in dollars and cents per $100 valuation.

For instance, if you live in Harrisburg township, inside the city, in school district 43, your rate is $3.830. If you live in school district 95, your rate is $3.812.

If you live in Carrier Mills inside the city, you are in school district 20 and high school district 103, and your rate is $3.307.

If you live in Eldorado, inside the city, you are in school district 67, high school district 102 and your rate is $4.214.

All other rates for the county may be found in the same manner.

Write-In Revolt

Unopposed Ticket of Men Lose To Women; It's Practical Joke

No one appeared happy.

The new mayor—Mrs. William R. Shannonhouse—put down her cards and called for an investigation.

Only one was an exception. He lost out to his mother.

Election day Wednesday was just a quiet, summer day for the 311 citizens of this little town on Virginia's lower eastern shore.

The show-in ticket of seven men on the ballot was unopposed.

About 110 citizens were eligible to vote, but only 24 did. Many were out of town watching the international naval review across Chesapeake Bay.

Then the vote was counted.

William R. Shannonhouse, candidate for mayor, lost to his wife, Mary, by a whisker. He got 11 votes. She got 12.

Each of five candidates for the town council lost to his wife by two votes. The sixth candidate lost to his mother by one.

The results were so sensational they broke up a bridge party.

"We were surprised," he said.

Authorities said the bandits used "dum-dum" bullets, shooting Ripa in the back and Love near the heart. The bullets flatten out on contact, tearing open gaping wounds.

Also in fair condition was Carlo (Joe Banana) Urbanati, 40, one of the gunmen who was shot in the head during the wild gun duel Thursday.

"We were surprised," he said.

Shannonhouse called the write-in revolt the work of practical jokers.

Editor's Note: This is the fourth and final special report by the United Press on Billy Graham's New York crusade.

It tells about the financial side of the crusade—where the money comes from, and where it goes.

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UPI)—Years ago when he was just beginning his career as an evangelist, Billy Graham was photographed holding a bag of money which his sponsors had just presented to him.

The picture appeared in the newspapers and embarrassed Graham acutely. He resolved then that never again would he jeopardize his ministry by giving people any ground for suspicion that he was getting rich from evangelism.

Today the finances of a Graham crusade are handled with an impeccable care that would do credit to a bank. Every penny taken in and paid out is audited by a firm of certified public accountants.

But the association of evangelists with profiteering is so strong in the public mind—and indeed, so well justified by the record of some itinerant preachers—that Graham still gets a few abusive letters each day from people who regard him as a kind of racketeer.

Hull in Charge

To Roger Hull, who has the responsibility of raising enough money to meet the bills of the current New York crusade in Madison Square Garden, it seems incredible that anyone should consider Graham's meetings a money-making operation.

Hull is vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York. He also is chairman of the committee—legally incorporated under the laws of New York state—which is sponsoring the meetings. He opened the books to a reporter in his office to show that crusading is a very costly business.

One of the smallest items is the allowance of $15 a day which the committee pays to Graham for living expenses. Graham also gets a salary of $15,000 a year, but this is paid entirely by the Billy Graham Evangelical Assn. of Minneapolis, Minn., which sponsors his "Hour of Decision" radio broadcasts each Sunday afternoon. The evangelist gets no extra salary, no "love offering" of any kind, from the funds raised for the New York crusade.

Rent Big Item

Big items of expense are the rent for Madison Square Garden—$5,000 a night—and salaries of 60-odd ushers, stage-hands and other Garden employees that run to about $1,500 a night. Advertising and publicity expenses, including daily radio and nightly television programs in the New York area, average $40,000 a week. Expenses of the crusade office at 165 West 46th Street, including staff salaries, printing, postage, and rent

Some 12.6 million acres of permanent and annual protective cover and 283,000 acres planted to trees were established during 1955 in the United States.

Rainbow's Rexall Honor Drug Store

A message from Robert S. Keltner, 'Your Pharmacist'

LAST MONTH WE CELEBRATED Mother's Day, and just so he won't feel left out of the picture, on June 16th, Father's Day, everybody puts the spotlight on Dad.

THE BEST TRIBUTE we have ever heard about fathers came from a youngster who said, "We have such good fun with my daddy that I wish I had known him sooner."

FATHERS ARE IMPORTANT PEOPLE to have. A father is a banker provided by nature. He takes care of all the important things, while mother makes the decisions about unimportant things. Of course, it is very seldom that anything important turns up, usually never.

FATHERS ARE SOMETIMES TAKEN FOR GRANTED, but not in our pharmacy. We appreciate and understand them and welcome their visits to us.

HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE IN CREAL SPRINGS

A 5-room home belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Coy Sutton, Creal Springs, was damaged by fire about 2 p.m. Monday. The loss was estimated at $2500.

The fire was apparently caused by an electric spark from defective wiring in a partition in the front room. The interior of the living room and dining room were much damaged, but firemen, about 20, extinguished the blaze before it spread to the rest of the house.

The Sutton family was away from the home at the time of the fire. Volunteers and city firemen poured water on the blaze for about 45 minutes. The house is located three blocks southeast of the Creal Springs city hall. It was insured.

Two persons were injured while extinguishing the blaze. Lester Lawrence, Creal Springs policeman, was treated for a broken toe injury and bruised arm at Marion Memorial hospital. An explosion blew his spectacles 20 feet against a tree but did not break them.

Junior Mangum, a volunteer firefighter, was cut on the arm with broken glass which required a physician's care.

Shawneetown Man Gets Prison Term

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill., June 14 — Isadore Osowski, 38, Shawneetown, was sentenced to from three-to-five years in prison Thursday after pleading guilty to three counts of forgery.

Osowski was sentenced in Perry County Circuit Court here by Judge Joseph B. Fleming. Osowski was arrested March 29 after passing three bad checks in Du Quoin. He was later indicted by a grand jury on six counts.

Jacques Pares, an itinerant workman from Patchogue, N.Y., was arrested Thursday night. Police Lt. John Nichols said Pares, 23, denied any knowledge of the brutal murder, "but we're waiting on a report from New York on his fingerprints."

One handprint believed to be that of a little girl was found on the inside of Pares' car. Lt. William Lutz of the Ecorse Twp. police described Pares as "a good suspect." He was arrested after neighbors reported seeing him near the child's home the past two days.

The number of licensed fishermen in the United States has doubled in 10 years.

When hogs, sheep or cattle don't move, use a canvas slapper instead of a club. A canvas slapper will persuade hogs and cattle just as well as a club, and a rattling can of stones will move sheep. Clubs will bruise animals and cost cash at the packing plant.

Gets 2 to 5 Years for Statutory Rape

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill., June 14 — Robert A. Muskopf, 22, Baldwin, was sentenced to from two-to-five years in prison after pleading guilty in Circuit Court here to a charge of statutory rape. Judge Joseph B. Fleming imposed sentence.

Lt. William Lutz of the Ecorse Twp. police described Pares as "a good suspect." He was arrested after neighbors reported seeing him near the child's home the past two days.

The number of licensed fishermen in the United States has doubled in 10 years.

Storms Hit Wide Area

By United Press

A band of tornadic storms spread from Colorado to West Virginia today. Heavy rains accompanying the storms touched off floods in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Nebraska.

Most of the tornado activity during the night was concentrated in the Ohio Valley and Great Lakes regions with twisters sighted near Detroit, Mich., Charleston, W. Va., Warsaw, Tenn., and Cincinnati and Waterville, Ohio.

No serious damage or injuries were reported from any of the funnel clouds.

Earlier, twisters were reported near Frankton, Colo.; Columbus, Neb.; Monroe, Neb.; Damascus, Ark.; Sioux City, Iowa, and Ellinwood, Kan.

Considerable property damage occurred in the twisters near Damascus and Monroe, Neb., but no injuries were reported.

Predicts U. S. Judge To Back Government In Girard Trial Case

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U. S. Atty. Oliver Gasch predicted today Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarragh will back up the government in the Girard case and preserve America's prestige in the eyes of the world.

The celebrated case that has caused a furor at home and abroad heads toward its first big show-down today.

McGarragh has given G. I. William S. Girard's lawyers until 2 p.m. CST to file legal precedents to back their contention Girard should be brought home from Japan and tried by a U. S. court martial for killing a Japanese woman.

Today is Flag Day

Flag Day today marks the 180th anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the national standard by the Continental Congress at Philadelphia in 1777.

"We take the stars and blue union from Heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity, representing liberty," George Washington is quoted as saying as he helped to design the nation's Flag.

The Flag was adopted by the Congress of the United States on June 14, 1777, by the following resolution:

"RESOLVED, That the Flag of the United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white on a blue field, representing a constellation."

The canton or union now shows 48 stars arranged in six horizontal and eight vertical rows, each star with one point upward. On the admission of a State into the Union a star will be added to the union of the Flag, and such addition will take place on the 4th day of July next succeeding such admission. The proportions of the flag were prescribed by Executive order of President Taft, October 29, 1912.

When the Flag passes by, one does it honor by standing at attention or saluting. Men remove their hats; women place hand on heart; persons in uniform salute by raising right hand to hat.

Rules of courtesy, honoring our country and the ideals for which it stands, bids us follow certain dictates in the handling and display of the Flag.

The Flag should never touch the ground, but should fly free and clear. It should never be draped or used for mere decoration. Bunting of red, white and blue may be so used, arranged with the blue above, the white in the middle and the red below.

The Flag should always be in the position of honor, to the right or in advance of the other flags in a procession; to the right of a speaker on a platform; to the right of the audience if on the same level as the audience.

A Flag at half-mast is a sign of mourning and in so placing it, it should be first raised to the top of the mast, then lowered to position.

The Flag should be raised at sunrise and lowered at sunset. It flies continuously over the United States Capitol, being lowered only for replacements. It flies over either House of Congress when that House is in session and over the White House when the president is at home. It may be flown continuously in wartime. When soiled or torn, it is destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning.

The Flag stands for the dignity of humanity as children of God for equal rights and justice and freedom for all mankind.

The Flag is indeed, as it is often affectionately called, "Old Glory."

See Stiff Fines After Ruckuses At Ball Parks

By FRED DOWN

United Press Sports Writer

League presidents Will Harridge and Warren Giles are expected to today to crack down hard on fist-swinging hot heads in an effort to prevent "rowdism" on major league baseball fields.

Fines of at least $100 are expected to be levied on the five participants in Thursday's brawls in Chicago and Brooklyn, while sharp warnings will be issued to all 16 teams to stop the fistfights. Action may also be taken to try to stop the controversial "dust off pitch"—the spark that touches off almost all baseball fights.

The game, already beset with congressional attack and franchise-switching troubles, has been smattered with more poor publicity this year than in the last 20 years. The first incident was Ted Williams' blast at the Marine Corps, former President Harry Truman and the late Sen. Robert A. Taft during spring training. That has been followed by the now-famous Copacabana incident involving the world champion Yankees and the assorted free-for-alls.

The situation reached a climax Thursday when the Yankees and White Sox engaged in a 28-minute free-for-all in Chicago and the Dodgers and Braves staged an impromptu fist fight at Brooklyn's Ebbets Field. Only last Sunday the Yankees and Tigers had a near-free-for-all in Detroit and two members of the Yankees and White Sox threatened each other Wednesday night after a game won by the White Sox, 7-6.

In all cases, the "duster" touched off the swinging. The "duster" is a pitch thrown near enough to a batter to drive him out of the batters' box but is not designed to hit him. It is a device the pitchers use against almost all long-ball hitters and it is a matter of course for it to be thrown to any batter who follows a teammate who has hit a home run.

Pankey's rallied for two runs in the last of the seventh but still fell one short of Social Brethren's nine runs. A. Beal, winning hurler, gave up five hits and struck out ten and Barrett pitched six-hit ball and fanned thirteen for the losers. Cline doubled twice for Social Brethren and Stinson and Potter hit doubles for the Bakers.

Aldridge's scored four runs in the seventh to win over Social Brethren. Nelson had a double and two singles. Aldridge had three singles and Biggs and Pickford singled twice each for the winners. Stricklin doubled and singled and Yarber singled twice to lead the losers' eight-hit attack. Biggs was the winning hurler and Stricklin took the loss.

Torgeson Goes to Chicago for Philley

CHICAGO — First baseman Earl Torgeson left the roster of the Detroit Tigers today to join the Chicago White Sox for the Sox' night game with the Senators at Chicago.

Torgeson was acquired by the Sox Thursday in a straight player swap with the Tigers for Dave Philley, Sox outfielder and first baseman, who was due in Detroit about the same time.

The Tigers, who had lost seven straight games to Ray Moore dating back to 1955, scored both their runs off him in the sixth. Charley Maxwell hit his 12th homer and J. W. Porter doubled home the deciding run in the same frame.

Ted Williams Leads A.L. Poll

NEW YORK — Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, although unpopular in some baseball circles because of his popoffs and antics, was the No. 1 choice of the fans today in the first cumulative vote totals for the 1957 major league All-Star game.

Commissioner Ford C. Frick's statisticians announced that Williams has attracted a total of 15,255 votes for the left field berth on the American League team. Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, with 14,755 votes for center field, was runner-up.

Braves Hold First Place After Day Which Saw Ted Williams Blast 3 Homers

By MILTON RICHMAN

United Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee bounced into first place in the National League today with a fist flying and the Yankees literally fought their way to within four games of the American League lead. But Ted Williams got in the best "punch" of all with a record-smashing home run spree.

The Braves moved a half game ahead of the N. L. pack by beating the Dodgers, 8-5, in a contest that featured fist fight between Milwaukee's Johnny Logan and Brooklyn's Don Drysdale, while the Yankees defeated the White Sox, 4-3, after both clubs had engaged in a 28-minute free-for-all.

Williams, who didn't have to resort to his fists, became the first American League player ever to hit three home runs in a single game twice in the same season when he led the Red Sox to a 9-3 victory over the Indians. Sawatski, Bruton Homer

In Thursday's other A. L. games, Detroit edged Baltimore, 2-1, and rookie Jack Urban pitched Kansas City to a 6-2 victory over Washington in his first major league game.

The Pirates registered their ninth victory in 13 starts by licking the Redlegs, 3-2; the Giants beat the Cubs, 7-4, and the Phils snapped the Cardinals' eight-game winning streak, 8-1, in other N. L. contests.

Reserve catcher Carl Sawatski drove in four runs for Milwaukee with two doubles and a homer in a victory that was credited to Bob Trowbridge. Bill Bruton hit two homers for the Braves and Gino Cimoli connected for Brooklyn.

Pankey's rallied for two runs in the last of the seventh but still fell one short of Social Brethren's nine runs. A. Beal, winning hurler, gave up five hits and struck out ten and Barrett pitched six-hit ball and fanned thirteen for the losers.

Jones pitched a four-hitter and struck out 13, as Ridgway led all the way, scoring in every inning. Kirby had three hits for the winners and Griffith slashed out a single, double and triple for the losers.

THE STORY: A vacancy occurs on the staff of a clinic in a small Missouri town and the post is offered to Dr. Garde Sheldon. He goes to the town, Bayard, to meet other members of the staff.

IV

GARDE leaned back and listened intently. Ruble was giving a brief resume of the staff members. Dr. Cornel, the surgeon-wife, two daughters. Dr. Windsor—he'd done some interesting medicine in Austria immediately after the war—he was their internist, and married. No children. "I'm Bob Ruble. And I do o. b. and g. c. Came here after service, though there I confined my work to dependents' families. I have four children and a big old house I am remodeling, doing most of it myself, even to a swimming pool which leaks. But we have the river." He smiled.

His expression sobered. "Our fourth member, of course, is the man you would replace. Dr. Kurt Lillard, the old man's son. You know his story . . ."

"Sketchily," said Garde. "I remember the headlines in the paper, and Dr. Flynn gave me some details."

"Yes. Well—briefly—last September, Kurt was accused of having murdered a screwball kid he'd found stabbed to death down on the clubhouse pier."

Garde's memory saw again, in a swift flash, the diamond sparkle of the river, that long pier, the tied up boats—the girls . . .

" . . . made his mistake in not running." Ruble was continuing, in a rather angry way of speaking. "But he reported the thing to the police, after determining that the kid was dead. Got a little blood on himself doing that. Anyway, as a reward, the police pinned the thing on him. Incredibly the court convicted Kurt Lillard of murder! Of all people! I say incredibly, though even I could see that the testimony couldn't be argued with."

"Five years before, you see, Kurt had given this same kid a mauling over some car incident. And only three days before he was found dead, Kurt had knocked Ben down for kissing Nan Stanfield. So, when the big sap reported to the police that he'd found Ben already dead—Personally I could think he did find him. And already dead."

"But the prosecution brought out testimony which couldn't be argued against, and Kurt's own story . . . Oh, he said he heard a shot, but no gun or wound was found. And then, of course, he was down at the pier with another woman—Kurt, I mean."

DR. RUBLE sat morose, staring at the window, his head wagging in disbelief. When he recovered, he spoke with renewed anger. "If that same woman had gone on and married Kurt 10 years ago, none of this would have happened!"

Garde's question was unspoken, but it attracted Ruble's attention. "Yes," he confirmed, "they were engaged, and she broke the thing off to have a career. Kurt wasn't through his training then, but if they had married he'd have been a man settled down with a family by the time Ben Laurent got old enough to need killing."

Dr. Ruble was as handsome and as self-assured as any man Garde had ever known. He had an eight-year record of never having lost a mother in childbirth. The surgeon—Dr. Cornel—a big, red-headed man, and probably an excellent surgeon, was just as probably a man with very definite opinions on all subjects and not one to brook argument about things like the right

Seed Oats Tested by Ultra-Violet Light

GENEVA, N. Y. (UPI)—Ultra-violet light, or "black light" as it is sometimes called, is being put to use to detect mixtures of varieties in the testing of seed oats used on New York farms.

Seed analysts at the state agricultural experiment station here have discovered that some oat varieties glow with a light blue color under ultra-violet light, while others give off a bronze glow. This phenomenon makes it possible to detect mixtures of varieties which may be offered for sale for seeding purposes.

least for the summer?"

Finally she exhausted her questions—or her breath—and leaned back to think about the whole matter. But almost at once she struggled to sit erect. "Garde," she cried. "Did you say Bayard?"

"But, Garde." Her eyes popped with excitement. "That's where . . ."

He stood up, tall and straight, towering above her. He spoke sternly. "That is where I'm going to work," he said flatly.
